“Why I Deserve College Scholarship”

Hereby, I would like to give you the general impression of why I am interested in becoming a part of this college and what experience I expect to gain from it.

During my last year at the Institute of International Relations, I considered various options of continuing my education and enhancing my professional and academic skills. The level of proficiency we receive at our Institute is quite high, but the character of this sphere of knowledge per se implies constant change, development, transformation and new challenges. I feel that receiving the internship would help me stay in tune with today’s turbulent world. The scope of the disciplines within the previous curriculum, both compulsory and optional, seemed to be really large. Such wide and intense coverage would help me improve my analytical skills and get a better insight into current issues of cultural diplomacy and its peculiarities. My current college experience encompasses two thesis papers on two topics that have been studied on an intermediate level so far, and I wish to develop my mastery of those. Perhaps one of those topics will become the basis for a doctorate level. Receiving a doctorate is one of my long-term perspectives in the academic sphere.

I also plan to take an active part in fundraising and charity activities in order to prove the social and academic fruits of my labor useful to the community.

Participation in the internship program would give me an opportunity to meet outstanding scholars and professors from different universities, as well as make acquaintances with fellow interns, which is an exciting and useful experience. This is also a great chance to learn languages other than the ones I already speak while communicating with other students. Undoubtedly, improved language and communication skills would give me an additional competitive edge in my preferred sphere of work.

Having had the certain experience of working at a state institution and of performing as a translator and interpreter, I feel I am able and willing to work effectively at government bodies. During my internship period, provided I will have one, I plan to obtain as much experience and knowledge as I can to continue my career in the field of cultural diplomacy and foreign policy. I find these spheres fulfilling and meaningful and I feel I can really prove useful in these spheres.

During this scholarship, I count on finding opportunities to work on the topic of my thesis paper more thoroughly thanks to the multicultural environment of the internship community and the access to documents and materials relating to the issue. I would also like to contribute to the cultural exchange and contacts between Germany and our country. I sincerely hope to get to know more detail about the mechanism of cultural diplomacy carried out in your country and in other countries as well.

I really think that the continuation of college experience would be beneficial for me. I really hope I will become part of it. Thank you for your consideration.
